EthicsWorkshop This workshop is designed for workers at all levels of experience and across practice settings. Technology use can facilitate communication with clients. However, technology use can become complicated with potential violations of confidentiality. In this workshop, guidelines in social media will be provided with case examples to illustrate boundary issues, dual relationships, competence, and informed consent. At the advanced part of this workshop (afternoon session), we will review practitioners' social media presence and discuss how to reduce risk factors.
